Honorable John McMahon
Deputy Director
Office of the Deputy Director
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, D.C. 20505

Dear Mr. McMahon:

I was gratified to learn from my colleague, [redacted] that you have made yourself available to meet with our Committee on Friday, April 15, 1983. Since your schedule will not permit you to be in Detroit overnight, we are in the process of arranging a luncheon which will be set for noon, with a brief reception to precede the meal. Assuming you will respond to questions from the group, we should be finished no later than 1:45 p.m. [redacted] STAT

The luncheon will be in a separate dining room of the Detroit Club located at 712 Cass Avenue in downtown Detroit. [redacted] STAT

Given the wide range of important interests of your organizations, we leave the topic of your remarks to your discretion. Formal announcements of the meeting will be mailed to our members on April 1, so we would ask that you give us an indication of the topic prior to that date.

At this point we are unaware of your travel arrangements, but a car and driver are at your disposal for any transportation to and from the airport or anywhere in the Detroit area. As the date draws nearer, perhaps your secretary could telephone me to confirm arrival times and whether you prefer to join us directly at the Detroit Club or at my office in the National Bank of Detroit.

As to your audience, the Detroit Committee has a membership of approximately 100, with a roughly equal proportion drawn from university ranks, professionals and the business world. It is a bit difficult to estimate attendance at a luncheon meeting, but I would expect a turnout of between 40 and 50.

Again, we are extremely pleased that you will be with us in April and assure you of a warm and responsive reception. If there are any particulars that I have not covered, or if you have any special requirements, please let me know.

I look forward to seeing you on April 15.

Sincerely,

A large, irregular white box redacting the signature of the Executive Secretary.
